He pictured how if deprived of this privilege the only recourse would be to go to the dives and saloons for the purpose of obtaining a drink, which, he said, would be, because of their nature, repugnant to many. The only alternative possible would be for them to become violaters of the law and clandestinely retain their rights and privileges. Paddeck Finds a Joker. Both sides held an armistice during the reading of the next section but the fourth which provides for the arrest of anyone selling liquor without a license found a mighty foe in Captain Pad-dock, who proclaimed himself anti-saloon and anti-pro. This section, he declared, is a joker, a menace to every onest liquor dealer as well as to offenders. He stated that he was a mem-ber of the Fort Worth club, the oldest ber of the Fort Worth club, the oldest in his city in which liquor has never been sold or gambling permitted and of the University Club, to which min-isters as we'l as others belonged, where liquor is sold. He denounced the framer of the act as the most artis-tic bucaneer on the high seas of poli-tics, as an adroit artist in the framing of tokers and whose skill in 'mutting' of jokers and whose skill in "putting things over" could not be excelled by any member of the house.

Some one suggested that the bill is by a pronounced anti, but Paddock retorted that he used to imagine that the author was an anti when he was more credulous, but that he was not really even a good imitation, that what really even a good imitation, that what he was he didn't know and that he was not going to take any chance and let his jokers slide by unprotested, thereby-jeopardizing the liberty and pleasure of his friends and fellow-citizens. Questions and explanations of the section were fired at Paddock from all sides and he was constantly wheeling around to hurl defiance and retorts at

With Mrs. T. W. Robertson presiding and Mrs. Leslie Stegal keeping the minutes, the members of the Shakspere club brought their play, The Winter's Tale, to a finish. Since this is founded upon the jealousy of an otherwise good man, and since Othello is likewise founded, the club will take Othelio next. One of the special features in this last session was the announcement that several of the old and popular members who have been absent would return and that some more than desirable applicants were to be considered. The club voted twenty-five dollars to the Evangelia settlement, and discuss-ed informally the patronage of a Len-ten art lecture. Mrs. T. M. BALL AT PHILO CLUB CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Since the more formal opening, it has been the policy of the Philo club this season to make its two other balls more of the informal, and yet the details for conventional ball giving have not been neglected. For the anniversary, and the Philo is nearly the ripe old age of thirty years, the decorations which have been so admired all the season remained. To these fresh flowers were nave been so admired all the season remained. To these fresh flowers were added, and Alessandro prepared an unusually good program for the fourteen engagement dances. Among the pleasant meetings was that of Miss Marjorie Crawford, whose removal has occurred recently. Mrs. George Smith of Ta-coma, who has mingled so freely in so-cial affairs during her visit was out for her last dance before returning home. In all, there was much by way of pleasantry for the anniversary dance

It is a mistaken idea that one can pay his dollars, go to grand opera and enjoy it. Nothing requires the mental exercise to derive enjoyment as does this, the most ambitious presentation of that fine art, music. Many from Waco are going over to Dallas for the grand opera season. Are these preparing for what they are to experience? We think not. Why spend all this money to indulge what we consider the proper thing to do? Why do this because the others do it? If we are not going to get something of what we aspire to get, better far remain at home and give our dollars to charity.

There is no gainsaying that to hear grand opera is a farce pure and simple unless a cer-tain amount of information is at hand and a training for the appreciation from a musical standpoint. Therefore, be it said again, if we are going to hear grand opera in Dallas we must give study to it in the interim between this and our going. Why not those who have engaged seats form a morn-

MR. LATTIMORE'S APPEAL.

In this issue of The Morning News is a communication from Superintendent J. C. Lattimore of the Waco public schools directing attention of the people to the bond issue election that will be held February 6. Mr. Lattimore in this instance resorts to that publicity through newspapers that he strongly opposes at all other times, in order to acquaint the people with the conditions in the educational system of this city. We happen to know Mr. Lattimore is one of the 'influences against publicity in school board doings, but if he would open the doors of the board's sessions to the press it would not be necessary at this late date with a bond issue pending to come out in a public statement of the condition of school buildings; he would not have to gather belated figures of the crowded condition of the schools to use as literature in support of a bond issue; he would not have to go into the public prints over his signature to inform the people of a bond issue election that is so important, but that has been practically ignored because the people do not know enough about conditions in the schools to justify them in taking sufficient interest in trying to carry the issue to a successful vote.

If Mr. Lattimore will open the doors of the school board (and it is believed he can do so because the reporter was present at the meeting in October until Mr. Lattimore presented a signed communication to the board protesting) the public will keep posted as to the condition of buildings, the money needed, the increase in pupils, the changes in certain classes of pencils, the rules as to use of scratch paper to be furnished by the board for the students, the care of the health of the pupils, the need for

MR. SENTER'S SOLICITUDE.

The faculty of the A. and M. College dismissed upwards of a score of studepart. They departed. Many of them signing of the ultimatum of "hazers "individual investigation." He asked mittee investigation of "the deploracultural and Mechanical College." He likened the insubordinates unto General Lee-they preferred, he thought, "to share a common lot rather than countenance and profit by the dishonor of their associates." We confess to see how the four hundred and sixty-six sympathizers and deniers of the dishonor of their associates-unless Mr. Senter considers they could profit by example and this indication means business. If that is his meaning we agree with him heartily. But they did not so profit, and shared the uncommon lot of the hazers, and, we think, by their action they countefaculty's action and in both houses were introduced bills rendering even more strict the ban on hazing. Mr. Senter is an educated and estimable citizen and has served uts district and Texas with a deal of distinction. We are surprised at his characterizations of this episode, especially of "conditions at the A. and M. College" as "deplorable." There is nothing the matter with the A. and M. College, thanks to its better spirit and a strong faculty. The deplorable end of the business comes in the fact that there were students at the place who are unwilling to recognize the authority of their instructors, the real value and purposes of the college, and to subvert personal feelings and desires to the necessity of recognizing the seriousness of the task before them and before the men who teach them and serve their best interests.

This was no time for an thvestiga tions; it was the time for Texas to show the students of its institutions that these are maintained for the education of youth, not for the encourment of a discredited form of "college spirit." The legislature die this in a way that should leave no doubt . the minds of those who cherished a very different idea.

Mr. Carnegie says that Colonel Goe thal's estimate that twenty-five thoucanal is "mere madness." Thus does the colonel remain the popular preterence, for Mr. Carnegle's advice '9 withdraw the troops is more madness.

Farmers' Hall of Fame.

Numerous papers of the state are discussing the suggested farmers' hall of fame and some have suggested names of men which would grace it splendidly. There are many of those in Texas who have done much for in Texas who have done much for the farmers, have given much time, spent much money and made many sacrifices for the improvement of conditions on the farm, to further the cause of the men who feed and clothe the world. Among these, and far along toward the front, is our townsman, Judge V. W. Grubbs. Judge Grubbs has given time, money and made great sacrifices that the farmers may enjoy if they will many things which have been thought belonged to the people of the city. Such a hall of fame if established would not be complete without the name of Judge Grubbs.—Greenville Banner. Greenville Banner.

The reception that has been accorded this suggestion, even if the suggestion itself comes to nothing tangible, is most gratifying. It has aroused lively interest in the plan of honoring those who have benefited the state by invitation, discovery and achievement along many lines of progressive agriculture and stock raising and has and enriching, an honor not too often of this character at the A, and M. # Some Customs at A. & M. College.

By JAMES HAYS QUARLES.

A feature of life at the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas that always has impressed me as wrong in its operation, and one which ought to be remedied, is the great guif between the members of the student body and the cadet corps.

The students do not take kindly to friendships with the officers of the college, and the officers of the college do not know how to reach the students. This is the result of a long existing customs. Far back in the years agone—I don't know how long ago, but it was before I knew the college—the students got the idea that any friend-liness which existed between the students and the teachers indicated that the student was trying to get his grade raised. Today when a student indicates in any way that he is disposed to friendship with a teacher, the other boys shame him, because there is an idea with them that he is toadying to curry favor. To be emphatic, the sentiment is that the stuthere is an idea with them that he is toadying to curry favor. To be em-phatic, the sentiment is that the stu-dents must be suspicious of the fac-uity, must always oppose the faculty and must be forever ready to resist the feculty, else those who will indi-cate a desire to meet the faculty half way are looked on with suspicion by their fellows. I know there are some members of the faculty who are dis-posed to bridge this guif between them, agriculture and stock raising and has met with strong endorsement from those most interested in intelligent development of the state's greatest resources. Further, it has evoked the honor of especial mention in the press of many communities of men who have done much for Texas's growth and enriching, an honor not too often and enriching, an honor not too often shown. It is earnestly to be hoped all this discussion will result in a movement to inaugurate a memorial of this character at the A. and M. Colour of this character at the A. and M. Colour of the students made a special to the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the students made a special to the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the students made a special to the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the students made a special to the corps—or, rather, to a gathering of a part of the corps—or, rather, rather the corps—or, rather, rather the corps—or, rather, rather the out of it. ### It is a Tradition.

it is a tradition among the students, a tradition that is passed to each new freshman class, that the less the students have to do with the professors the better off they are, and the boy the better off they are, and the boy starts school with the lesson throughly taught him. It has been this way for a dozen years that I know of. I don't know how to break down the wail; I taiked of it during the four years I was an officer of the college, but could get no help in any direction. If there is a young lady in a home on the campus, students will visit that home, but their friendships extend only to the family folks and not fo the head of the teaching staff as if they were total strangers. Some boys go through there for a year or two years without even trying to learn the names of all their instructors. Nearly every teacher of the early closing law. I carried this remark of the commandant in my mind, and at the first opportunity I mentioned to a junior mandant told me that his students always were on hand. The junior re-mandant told me that his students always were on hand. The junior replied. "Sure we are. We want that rank next year."

"That rank next year" meant that when the commandant gave out the promotion list as to captains, colonels, etc., that each one of these fellows want a chance at a good place.

Parsonal Letters Undelivered.

I have known boys to come to the college with personal letters for the institution which they did not deliver.

Colonel Miner is known all over the state. Captain Moses, who was formerly the commandant, was known all over Texas. Professor Kyle of the safe will known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many friends throughout the state, others were well known and a great many heopie who knew me before I went to the college were mindful of the fact that I was there. In many instances when boys would leave home they would be given letters to be carried in locked trunks until the close of school before they were delivered, the boys being influenced by the "old boys" not to become too friendly with the officers of the college last Sunday I have known have been able to go out down such extress the same of the letters that the faculty, to have learned the last wardness of the movement and to have been able to go out down such extress the same of the letters that the faculty, to have learned the last wardness of the faculty to the copy had to smeet, they would have been able to go out that the investigation of the letters that a feet the suddent faculty to be constructed to the commandant of cades from a friend in East Texas. This close corporation condition has had much to do with arousing the stu-dents to suspicion. Sitting within the sacred preciacts that are like unto the closed quarters of a grand jury, every closed quarters of a grand jury, every official action is taken. It affects the entire college life of a student lie knows nothing of what is being done behind these closed doors; he cannot find out why this is done and why some other thing is not done. The students have appealed time and again for representation on the faculty in matters that affect their work, their hours, their courses of study and the manner of marking their grades, but there has been no effort made to give this to them. They do not know why it is that certain rules are incorporated in the blue book and why certain rules are stricken from that They do not get any of the arg ey do not get any of the argument these things and cannot understand on these things and caunot understand

The company desired the formal sanction of the board to the increased rates for bosiness.

Mayor Mackey brought up the question as to whether the commission should permit telephones of private branch exchanges to be counted each rect from the telephone company's plant. He questioned whether the various telephones on one private exchange were of material benefit to Mayor Mackey said he was convinced that the company did not have 3250 on direct lines from the company's offices. The matter, he thought, should be investigated further.

Inking of Americas by Rail Would Aid Peace Progress, Declares

Washington, Feb. 4.-The linking of washington, Feb. 2.—Ine linking of the Americas by rail would be of great value as a peace propaganda among the different countries of North and South America, in the opinion of An-drew Carnegie. This belief was ex-pressed by Mr. Carnegie at a meeting here today of the permanent Pan-American Railway committee, of which he is a member, when reports on the linking of the Americas were read, indicating the progress that is being made toward this project.

Chairman Henry Gassaway Davis, former senator from West Virginia, presided at the meeting. General Geo. W. Davis and Charles M. Pepper also were present. In Central America only eighteen miles of line remain to be constituted to make practicable a railway journey from New York to Guatemala City. Construction from there is well under way to San Miguel, Salvador. From this point to the canal, 600 miles away, a number of links have been constructed and plans for others are well advanced.

In South America only 175 miles are still to be constructed between Buenos Ayres and Lake Titicaca, and the line has been completed from the latter point to Cuzco, Peru, 2,000 miles from Buenos Ayres. In Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Peru and Scuador, progress has been made.

The committee will make a full report to the next Pan-American conference which probably will be held in some South American capital during the coming year.

Proceedings to Recover Allotment of James Rowell Now in Oklahoma Federal Court.

Guthrie, Okla., Feb. 4.-Suit to re-

The suit is the outgrowth of United States Senator Gore, on the floor of the senate in 1910, having charged that he had been offered a bribe by Jake L. Hamon to withdraw his op-position to the act annulling the al-lotment of Rowell as a Kiowa Indian. Senator Gore's statement led to the countercharge being made that the senator, together with Hamon and senator, together with Hamon and others had colluded to prevent competitive bidding on lots in Lawton. An investigation of charges against Senator Gore and Hamon is now in progress, and pending its outcome the government has instructed the land of the here to refuse payment tendered by

Not only is the work of instruction greatly hampered by such crowded conditions, but, to use these buildings another year without additions would be very unsanitary, as well as hurtful to both discipline and instruction. Some comparative figures (using the same grades for the different years) will show how the schools have grown in the last two years. The enrollment in the South Eighth street school for the first five grades, for January 1, 1911, was 477; for Jan. 1, 1913 it was 525, showing an increase of ten per cent in the two years. For the same dates the enrollment at the South Third street school were 284 and 384, an increase of 28 per cent. For Brook avenue, 310 and 394, an increase of 27 per cent. ANSWERS MADE TO INQUIRIES FROM VARIOUS PARTS OF STATE.

Colquitt Seeks Information Regardin Situation in Harris County District Court.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 4.- The attorney general's department has given the fol-lowing opinions in regard to inquiries om a member of the house in regard the proper construction of Article 5, Section 20 of the constitution, the following case was put: "The constitution provides that there shall be elected for each county a county clerk, who shall be clerk of the county and who shall be clerk of the county and the commissioners' court and recorder of the county and providing that in counties having a population of less than 8,000 persons there may be an election of a single clerk, who shall perform the duties of district and county clerk. The question was predicated is to whether or not this provision was mandatory and required that two clerks, a county clerk and a district clerks, a county clerk and a district clerk, should be elected, or whether the legislature could prescribe the number of people that shall reside in the county before the two offices may be separated. And the department answered that the grovising of the conswered that the provision of the con-stitution was mandatory, and that the egislature would not be authorized to prescribe a different number of peo-ple from that mentioned in the con-

The county attorney of Pecos couny was informed that three members of the commissioners' court will constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business except the levying of taxes; that the commissioners' court s composed of the four commission-ers and the county judge, making five nbers of the court, three of whom constitute a quorum; that there e been two constructions placed statute in conflict with each other, one by the civil court in the of West vs. Burke, 60 Tex. 51. It was held that three members of the commissioners' court in the absence of the county judge would not constitute a quorum, the court construing the landuordin, the court constrains the language of the statute to mean that three commissioners and the county judge had to be present in order for the court to transact business. This question came before the court of criminal came is in a large and property of the court of the cou criminal appeals in a later case, Racer vs. the State, 73 S. W. 968, where it was held that the commissioners' court is authorized to transact business whenever there is a quorum present, and that this consists of three mem-bers. The opinion of this department follows the doctrine of the latter de-

Harris County Case. The governor requested this depart-ment for advice on the following situment for advice on the following stat-ation: J. A. Head was elected district judge in Harris county at the No-vember election, and has failed to qualify on account of bad health. The whom Mr. Read was elected to suc-eed, has expired. The question is, has ceed, has expired. The question is, has Judge Kittrell, because of Mr. Read's failure to take the oath of office and qualify as his successor, to sit as district judge; if so, does a vacancy exist which the governor is required to fill by appointment. After quoting the provisions of the constitution and statutes pertaining to the subject matter of the inquiry, the opinion to the governor states that the constitution e inquiry, the opinion to the states that the constitution clearly limits the term of office of a district judge to four years, and the language of the statute, based upon the constitution, provides that he shall the constitution, provides that he shall hold office until his successor has duly qualified, must be read so as to harmonize with the restrictions placed upon the term of office in the constitution. If this were not true the constitutional limitation could be easily over-ridden by the successful candidate's failure to qualify, and thus permit the incumbent of the office to hold same until the next general election. stitutional limitation could be easily over-ridden by the successful candidate's failure to qualify, and thus permit the incumbent of the office to hold same until the next general election. The primary object of the statute permitting the incumbent to hold until his successor qualifies is to prevent an actual vacancy in the office until the newly elected officer can have a reasonable time within which to applies able time within which to qualify. It has been expressly held that a vacan-cy can be created by the election of one eligible to hold office and by his failure to qualify. State vs. Cocke, 54 Tex. 484. That Mr. Read, having been duly elected, and having received his certificate of election, it becomes his duty to qualify and assume the duties of the office within a reasonable fice. The question as to what con-stitutes a reasonable time for the newly elected judge to qualify is left largely to the discretion of the gover-nor to determine, and if in the judgment of the governor, under all the circumstances of the case, Mr. Read has had a reasonable time to qualify and fails and refuses so to do, that it is the opinion of this department that

P. that provides for commissions in favor of certain officers who collect money for the state or county, has reference to the collection of money on criminal address ments and does not comprehend a case where the tax is paid and no judgment is rendered against the defendant, the judgment of the court being one of dismissal.

Nepotism Law Opinions.

Answering the tax assessor of Na-varro county, the department ruled that it would not be a violation of the nepotism law for an officer to em-ploy as deputy a man who married the officer's wife's sister. The act makes it unlawful for certain officers to ap-point or vote for the appointment of point or vote for the appointment of persons related to them within the second degree by affinity or within the third degree by consanguinity, that a person who marries the sister of the wife of the officer is not related to the officer in any degree, but is related to his wife by consanguinity. The county judge at Eldorado stated a case where the owner of land sold two sections and left the county, leav. ing his poll tax unpaid, the vender agreeing to pay the taxes on the land; that he has offered to pay the taxes on the land but refused to pay the poll tax, and the question was asked whethtax, and the question was asked whether or not the vendee should be permitted to pay the land tax and demand a receipt without paying the poil. And he was advised that the vendee must pay all the taxes, including the poil, for the reason that as soon as the assessment is complete a lien attaches to all the property rendered for the full amount of the taxes due.

Teachers' Salary Citation. County judge of Concho county states a case where their school teachers have to wait for their salaries several months because taxes are practically unpaid until February 1; that they have a proposition from a bank, which is the county depository, to cash all school warrants promptly at par, provided the commissioners' court will permit the bank to have the school money without interest; and the question was asked whether or not the court had authority to do this. And he was advised that it could not be done; that the law contemplates that the school money as well as other moneys should be placed in the public depositories and bear interest; that the arrangement in question would be

> This was because both senators to day submitted to the committee a statement in their defense instead of presenting it to the senate. The committee holds that if it considers the ment of the governor, under all the circumstances of the case, Mr. Read has had a reasonable time to qualify and fails and refuses so to do, that it is the opinion of this department that the governor would have the authority to declare a vacancy in his office and appoint someone to fill the same.

Health Officers Involved.

Answering an inquiry from Bowie county, the department rules that the commissioners' court does not possess the power to arbitrarily discharge or remove a county health officer before the expiration of his term of office; that the position is a statutory office and the term thereof is two years, and the only method of disposing of such an officer is to pursue the procedure laid down in the statute.

Answering the county attorney at Rio Grand City, the department ruled that the federal government reservation at Fort Ringgold is under the state jurisdiction for the purpose of prosecuting all offenses committeed against the penal code. It seems that

FOLLOWERS OF THE GAME DIS. APPOINTED IN PET BROWN.

Pride of Taylor Does Not Come Up to Expectations-Indian Claims Belt.

Pet Brown had many loyal supporters in Waco at 8 o'clock last night, but they are fewer now. The "Pride of Taylor" did everything save wrestle Chief—Montour, the champion Indian grappler, in the bout at the Majestic Baylor. Y. M. C. A. grappler, in the bout at the Majestic ast night. He stalled for time and the only satisfaction he has is that his record that no man has ever placed his shoulders to the mat still remains intact. When he left the mat after two hours of "holding" for time, he refused to return, and the crowd gave its unanimous decision to the redskin, although the referee at first called it a draw and later left it with the draw and later left it with the Pandemonium reigned for an hour after the match ended. The crowd was dissatisfied. The fans wanted to see Brown continue the match with the Indian, but he refused to return to the stage. The last hour and three-quarters of the match was just a repetition of the same thing. Montour had an upper position and Brown lay close to the canvass for fear he would lose to the canvass for fear he would lose that wonderful little reputation he has established since going into the pro-

Even when the timekeeper announced that only a few minutes remained,
Brown clawed the mat like an eel.
When time was called at the end of two hours. Referee C. C. Sparks told the participants to quit, but the Indian refused and wanted to continue. Brown, "Taylor's pride," however, had a plenty of the Indian, He arms and retired from the stage, not arose and retired from the stage, not to appear again, although the Indian held that he was entitled to the decis. on if Brown backed down on continuing the hont. The crowd was with the Indian. Those on the stage crowd-ed to the center and many from the audience joined the throng. The police cleared the ving several times against protests of the followers of the game, who wanted to see the decision award-ed to the Indian, the only man who wed any signs of wanting to enter willing for the match to continue, but it was announced at the beginning that after two hours wrestling it remained with the referee to say whether the bout should continue.

"Curley" Myers, manager of Adolph Ernst, the light heavyweight champion of Kansas City, was on the scene and hurled challenges galore at both Brown and Montour. He agrees to wrestle Montour here for a $1250 purse and win two falls in an hour, and wrestle Brown at Taylor and win three falls in an hour. He admitted that a match with Brown here would not draw after last night's performance.

One of the largest crowds that ever packed the Majestic theatre was on hand to see Brown and Montour wrestle.

A number of good preliminaries in the way of boxing matches between negroes entertained the followers be-fore the main event. And Chief Mon-tour gave a free exhibition with a trainer after Brown retired from the mat.

In support of his decision Sparks said that when the men agreed on him as the third man, an agreement was entered into to the effect that should the men wrestle two hours without a fall there, would be no decision and in the event the referee wanted the bout to continue he might wanted the bout to continue he might keep the wrestlers together. Instead, Sparks called it a draw and said it was according to the agreement.

Jim Asbell sent a challenge to the winner. Promoter Charleson says that all future bouts he stages will be to a finish, with the two-hour rule elim-

Brokers for one of the largest houses on change led to a vigorous campaign to raise quotations for corn. Opinion in some quarters leaned to the idea that the purpose of this action was to force a widely scattered short interest to cover. Most of the sellers who were conspicuous yesterday were compelled to buy on the advance and there was lively option purchasing, too, by leading cash concerns.

Oats rose in sympathy with corn, but without a corresponding increase

There was a meeting a few days ago at which Mrs. Lazenby, Mrs.

Supplementing this went telegrams of a like nater from practically every business club of the city, it being deemed that the passage of this measurement. ure now is unnecessary and will work a hardship upon Waco. It was pointed out that few cities have any way in which to dispose of their sewerage other than by the rivers at this time, and that a change would mean enor-mous expense at a time when most of them are unprepared to bear it. Secretary Dillard, of the Waco Traffic Bureau, reminded the commission or twelve years, before the govern-ment would not permit sewerage to go into the Brazes when it had been made navigable, it having been proven that organic matter injures the steel that organic matter injures the steel used in constructing the locks and dams and there being a prohibitive federal statute on the subject. He suggested that the people of this section might be interested in the matter through a campaign of education, float bonds and have the work completed within six years, thus reducing freight rates to and from the gulf. Hence he thought the commission might favor the passage of the measor installing a filter plant or some other method by which the organic matter could be taken care of.

Mayor Mackey, however, pointed to the fact that the city expects to have to make some such provision later, but expend the immense sum that will be needed to get an even workable plan for destroying the sewerage. He did not think the city should be made to take up this matter yet.

Commissioners Littlefield, Caufield. Gorman and Wright all endorsed the attitude of the mayor and a decision was reached to telegraph the representatives from this county to oppose the measure and to request that other business organizations of Waco de

It was stated in the commission that the bill, offered by a Dallas man, is probably meant to prevent Fort Worth probably meant to prevent Fort Worth from emptying its sewerage into the Trinity river, that it might not drift on down to Dallas. Dallas already has made provision other than the river for the disposal of the sewerage. The bill, as it stands, applies to all of the cities in Texas of more than 10,000 population.

The bill affects so many Texas cities that it is expected that despite its

PROPOSITION IS AIMED AT FORT WORTH HAS SERVED FOR FOUR YEAR

Have Urged Him to Run. Two Places Open.

as far as two of the positions on the time ago John F. Wright made it plain that he would not be a candidate for re-election. Commissioner P. A. Gorman announced officially that he would not make the race for re-election, stat. ing it in an open meeting of the commission. However, there has been some pressure brought to bear on him to stand again for the office, and there has been a petition in circulation recently asking several candidates to make the race and Mr. Gorman is one of those named on that position. He declares that he will not do so. He made the following public statement yesterday morning: Mr. German's Statement.

"To the gentlemen who compose the committee that stood sponsor for me as one of their candidates for city commissioner, let me say that I am most grateful for the honor you do n and for the trust and confidence whice your nomination of me implies. "To those who signed the petition if furtherance of said nomination and asking that I allow the use of my name as a candidate to succeed myself, let me say that I sincerely appreciate the kind expression of your faith in me. "To those friends and individuals who have so persistently urged me to make the race, let me say that I am deeply touched at this manifesta-tion of your unswerving loyalty to me. But to one and all let me say that for months past I had planned for sev-eral reasons to retire at the end of my term. My health is not robust, and my experience has taught me that any man who conscientiously does his duty as city commissioner must necessarily subject himself to more than ordinary worry, which in my case at least has not proved beneficial to my health. However, this is only one of many reasons which from my viewpoint has induced me to persist in my conclusion.

will have served the city four years when my term expires, and I have given the best that there is in me, and I have done so at no inconsiderable sacrifice to my personal in-terest and do not feel that I should be called upon to make a further sacrifice.

"As to whether I have accomplished good for Waco, I am perfectly willing to leave that to the unbiased citizen-they would not run against me, call attention to this fact because never have liked to quit under fireand now, finally, allow me to say that under no conditions will I be a can-

"Very respectfully,
"P. A. GORMAN."

Water Works Bonds Which Were Found in Rubbish Pile to Be Destroyed.

Bonds valued at $140,000, issued by the Waco water works department, sold to the Commercial Trust Com-pany of Kansas City, taken from the United States mails by robbers while being sent to New York to be placed on the market by this concern, and fi-nally dug up in debris between the tracks of the Santa Fe Railroad com-pany and the Missouri river by workmen and turned over to the postoffice department, were fingered, counted, and in spite of their damaged condition, separately identified by the memers of the city commission yester day morning. They were then turned over to George S. McGhee, city treas-urer, at the First National bank, and their negotiability was destroyed. In the custody of Finance Commissioner T. A. Caufield and a representative of the trust company, they were taken to Austin last night, where they will be examined and destroyed by fire by the comptroller and new bonds, al-ready signed by the mayor, will be issued to the Commercial Trust Com-

Gerald Parker brought the bonds, together with a number of affidavits, before the commission yesterday morning. The condition of the bonds makes them unsalable. Hence the request that new bonds be issued, the city, however, not to be placed at the slightest expense through the change. Ray Ramsey, representative of the bond company, made affidavit that he had received these bonds from the city of Waco for the company and city of Waco for the company and had mailed them on July 12 to New York.

The affidavit of John Wilson and two other laborers who found the bonds in the rubbish in Kansas City was also produced. It showed that they were throwing sand with their shovels on burning rubbish when some of the bonds were dug up. They were contained in a mail sack which had been slit open with a knife. The next day other bonds were found. Some of them had been damaged by the fire. They carried the bonds to the United States postoffice inspector the third day.

Joe P. Johnson, postoffice inspector, in his affidavit, states that the registered packets of bonds left the postoffice at 9:20 o'clock on the evening of July 12 for New York. On the way to the union station in Kansas City the postal car was held up and robbed and the bonds stolen.
